(2) If the Supervisory Authority notifies [a financial institution] that a country has weaknesses in its AML/CFT systems, then [the financial institution] must pay special attention to business relationships and transactions from or in that country.

(1b) Where transactions have no apparent economic or visible lawful purpose, [the financial institution] should examine as far as possible the background and purpose of such transactions, and written findings should be kept as a financial transaction document.

(1c) [A financial institution] should adhere to any countermeasures that the Supervisory Authority or the regulator advises should be implemented.”

⁵ Section 12B of the Prevention of Terrorism Act 2005 [amended by section 10 of the Prevention of Terrorism Act 2017] makes it an offence to be involved in or to finance the development of weapons of mass destruction.

⁶ WMD: weapons of mass destruction

DPRK has failed to address the significant deficiencies in its AML /CFT regime and the serious threat it poses to the integrity of international financial system.

DPRK has been assessed by the FATF as posing a serious threat with respect to its illicit activities related to proliferation of weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and its financing.

Countermeasures: Financial institutions are to give special attention to business relations and transactions with the DPRK. This includes DPRK companies, financial institutions and those acting on their behalf.

Enhanced due diligence in relation to DPRK entities should include application of stringent client identification procedures; application of stringent beneficial owner identification before business relationship is established; enhanced systematic reporting of financial transactions; limiting business relations or financial transactions with DPRK entities; no reliance on third parties located or based in DPRK concerned to conduct elements of the CDD process;

Financial institutions should have a clear understanding of the purpose of any transaction involving such entities and be satisfied to a very high degree after enhanced due diligence of its legitimacy.
